

Anderson Hill Redevelopment Project (formerly SCIP II)

Summary

Anderson Hill Redevelopment Project (AHRP) is designed to redevelop an area between East 11th and 12th Streets and Branch and Navasota Streets into a revitalized residential community through the construction of up to 100 affordable housing units for low and moderate income families. The first phase of the project was implemented by the Anderson Community Development Corporation (ACDC) with the City of Austin implementing the following phases with Federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and HOME funds. The project will consist of up to 24 rental and 76 homeownership units.

Status

The first three (3) units in the second phase of the project are nearing completion. An additional ten (10) units will be under construction within the next four (4) months. Predevelopment activities have begun on the fifteen (15) unit townhouse development phase of the project. Development variances were granted to the project at the January meeting of the Board of Adjustment. Construction is scheduled to begin on this phase by the end of 2002. Up to thirty (30) home ownership units and thirty (30) rental units will be built in the next two years.

Description

The Anderson Hill Redevelopment Project is located in Central East Austin, bounded by E. 12th and Juniper Streets on the north and south, and Branch and Navasota Streets on the east and west. The City Council previously approved $4,416,000 to revitalize the area in concert with the Austin Revitalization Authority's focus to provide revitalization and economic development along the East 11th and East 12th Street corridors. 12 - 15 townhouse units are planned on the south side of E. 12th Street, between Curve and Navasota, in the E. 11th & 12th Streets corridor.
